

End of Life document (Advance Care Plan)

- This document should be completed with the individual and will contain their information and wishes around their support and care at end of life. Some areas may be completed before the adult has shown any signs of illness or frailty.
- It should be viewed as a living document and can be amended and reviewed by the owner whenever necessary
- It includes sections that identify what support the adult would like if they should be very ill, DNA CPR, Power of Attorney, who to contact when they are very ill and what the adult would like in terms of funeral wishes and celebration of their life, once they have died.
